

❖ What are negative indexes and why are they used?

Negative indexing is used to in python to begin slicing from the end of the string i.e., the last. Slicing in python gets a sub string from a string. The slicing range is set as parameters i.e., start, stop and step.